Silver Surfers - help needed This is a new group being held on our premises on a Monday from 1pm-3pm. It is for older people who want to learn how to use a computer in a non-threatening environment. They are fully subscribed but are anxious to get more helpers who know the rudiments of computer use and can give some 1-to-1 help to those attending. If you might be interested in this, you are welcome to pop in on a Monday afternoon and see if you think you could help. One of the people running it is Anne Curnock (the wife of David Curnock whose father used to attend Bramcote Methodist church). If you want to know any more, please ask Connie Pullan.

Talents exhibition for those of you who make lace, jewellery, models, pottery, pictures etc. forms are now available from Marion Wallwork, Anne Lyburn, Ian Blakeley and Anne Wragg. These explain all details for the exhibition, and contain a tear-off section to be handed in with your items. We look forward to receiving lots of works revealing your hidden talents.

On Saturday 27th November 2010 there is a performance of the Roger Jones musical "David" at 7pm at Sandiacre Methodist Church.
